Fears raised over extremist activity on university site

EXCLUSIVE

BY LUI STRACCIA
lustraccia@lutononsunday.co.uk

MUSLIM extremists were trying to recruit students outside the University of Bedfordshire more than a year ago – but police were powerless to stop them.

On Monday it emerged that last weekend's Stockholm suicide bomber Taimour Abdulwahab al-Abdaly had graduated with a BSc in sports therapy from the University of Luton.

Abdulwahab, 28, lived in Argyll Avenue, Luton, and was enrolled between 2001 and 2004, and British security services are trying to establish whether he was radicalised while he studied there.

While the university this week strenuously denied any cases of extremist activity ever having taken place on its campus, our sister paper Luton & Dunstable Express published a story in October 2009 revealing Muslim radicals were trying to recruit students outside its main entrance during Freshers' Week.

Around 15 extremists, some of whom had branded soldiers 'baby-killers' and spat at them during the Royal Anglian Regiment's homecoming parade in Luton town centre in March that year, set up two stalls outside the campus in Park Street and handed out leaflets, some of which showed a placard depicting former US President George Bush below a headline 'Terrorist Murderer'.

In the House of Commons on Wednesday, Prime Minister David Cameron said: 'If we are frank on both sides of the House, we have not done enough to deal with the promotion of extremist Islamism in our own country.

Activists handing out leaflets outside the Luton campus of the University of Bedfordshire in October 2009

"Whether it is making sure that imams coming over to this country can speak English properly, or whether it is making sure that we de-radicalise our universities, we have to take a range of further steps, and I am going to be working hard to make sure that we do."

A police spokesman said: "Bedfordshire Police have a team of people who work together with all members of our organisation to coordinate community activities to safeguard individuals, build resilience within communities against violent extremism and radicalisation and who all work towards community cohesion."

"We continue to undertake work under the national Prevent agenda with our partner agencies and members of all communities to address any type of extremism that may have an impact on Luton or Bedfordshire."

■ Turn to pages 2 and 3 for an in-depth look at whether enough is being done to prevent radicalisation taking place at the UK's universities.

United front signs up to defend Town's good name

COMMUNITY leaders this week joined together to defend Luton's reputation amid media portrayals that it is a 'hotbed of violent extremism'.

A letter was released on Tuesday with the signatures of Cllr Hazel Simmons, leader of Luton Borough Council, Cllr David Franks, leader of the Liberal Democrat group, and Town Hall chief executive Trevor Holden.

All offer their commitment to Luton and paint a positive side of the community, days after it was revealed that the Swedish suicide bomber lived in the town.

The letter has been published on the council's website, together with an online invitation to everyone to support the Luton in Harmony campaign which celebrates its first anniversary next month.

It was also immediately supported by Cllr Michael Garrett, leader of the Conservative group, Farasat Latif, Secretary of Luton Islamic Centre, Fozia Irfan, chairman of Aspire, Zafar Khan, chairman of Luton Council of Faiths, and Mirza Akbar, from Luton Council of Mosques.

Further early signatories include Luton North and South MPs Kelvin Hopkins and Gavin Shuker, MEP Richard Howitt, Brian Hibbert, chairman of Luton Chamber of Commerce, Chris Barnes, from Churches Together in Luton, Abdul Ghafoor, Secretary of Luton Council of Mosques, and Dr Nazia Khanum OBE, chairman of Equality and Diversity.

More community leaders are signing up all the time.

THE University of Bedfordshire insists there has never been a case of extremism on its campus.

But our sister paper Luton & Dunstable Express's story in October 2009 about radicals operating outside its Park Street main entrance during Freshers' Week shows they have tried to recruit its students in the past.

Taimour Abdulwahab al-Abdaly lived in Argyll Avenue, Luton, and attended the university between 2001 and 2004.

In 2005, Professor Anthony Glees, director of Centre for Security and Intelligence Studies at the University of Buckingham, published a report naming the University of Luton - as it was then known - as one of more than 30 institutions where 'extremist and/or terror groups' had been detected. The university refuted this claim.

In February this year, then Universities Minister David Lammy told the BBC certain universities will be required to work closely with Special Branch and other police officers to prevent Islamic extremism.

The names of the institutions targeted have never been disclosed, but the University of Bedfordshire categorically denied it is one of them.

A spokesperson from the Department for Business Innovation and Skills (BIS) said: "BIS, the police and other agencies work very closely with all institutions to help them manage the risk of radicalisation."

"We have identified some institutions which are more at risk and have given them particular targeted support."

"We will not release the list of these institutions for national security reasons."

Last year LD Express told how Muslim extremists were trying to recruit students outside the University of Bedfordshire during Freshers' Week.

One of those giving out leaflets was Abu Safiyya, who admitted to abusing troops but insisted they were 'not extremists'.

The extremists also turned up at the Freshers' Fayre that week outside the university's Business School, in Vicarage Street.

At the time, police said 'no action was taken as no laws were being broken and there was no breach of the peace' and the university said it was 'aware of the group' but was 'unaware of anyone making an official complaint'.

Having been told about the LD Express article in October 2009, Professor Glees said this week: "I'm very seriously disturbed by the story published because the newspaper has seen it with its own eyes the recruitment to extremism that goes on at universities. It is very shocking and chilling."

"Certainly I think the police should be asked to reconsider what they are saying. The police are meant to prevent radicalisation."

"This sort of thing is totally intolerable, totally unacceptable."

"By writing about this, Luton on Sunday is doing something of national and international interest." When asked if the University of Bedfordshire had a problem with extremists, Professor Glees said: "Yes it has a problem, but it is not the only university where this is going on."

"It's got to be dealt with and it had better be dealt with."

A University of Bedfordshire spokesman said: "There is no evidence of extremist activity on campus."

"We take a strong stance on anyone harassing its students or blocking its entrances. In either case, we would involve the police."

"The university is proud to have such a harmonious community."

Abdulwahab attended Luton Islamic Centre (LIC) for a month during the period of Ramadan in 2006 or 2007 before he 'stormed out' during a 'theological debate' with mosque chairman Abdul Qadeer Baksh.

Mr Baksh, who reported Abdulwahab to police, told LoS: "All I know is that, after he left us, some University of Bedfordshire students who attend our mosque said he'd been bad-mouthing us."

"We hear the gossip of what goes on at the university, but it's not official. Students chat in cafes, corridors, when they're playing football. It's abhorrent."

Wait is on to find out if Marsh Farm project funding has been approved

A DECISION as to whether funding for a Marsh Farm project will get the go-ahead has still to be taken.

Marsh Farm Outreach (MFO) is still waiting to find out if it has been allocated £840,000 in funding for its Organisational Workshop (OW).

The project, designed to help the long-term unemployed in Marsh Farm, has been turned down twice but has now been provisionally agreed, depending on final approval and conditions being met. A charity called the Development Trust Association (DTA) has been proposed to act as a lead partner with MFO to deliver the OW.

Since its inception, MFO has spent about £477,000, including £267,540 on Community Outreach, £150,000 for Phase One of the Organisational Workshop, £25,000 for community economic surveys and £35,000 for the Community Engagement and Master Plan Consultation from MFCDT.

Glenn Jenkins, a director and spokesman for MFO, said: "MFO is the only organisation which uses New Deal for the Communities (NDC) funding to create jobs solely for residents of Marsh Farm rather than for people driving in to the estate from 'nicer' parts of Luton, London or Cambridge.

"All of the wages we have ever paid were spent locally and the cost to the public purse has been virtually zero because by paying part time wages to unemployed people this only replaces payments of welfare benefits which would come from the same public purse."

In a letter dated November 19, Andrew Stunell MP writes: 'The DTA are not a local organisation. The DTA's proposed role raises possible risks around state aid and EU Procurement Regulations, which I cannot see have been addressed.'

'When these risks are coupled with the lack of time left to complete the project, I cannot see how this proposal is practical and can succeed.'

The project must be completed by the end of March 2011.

Seeds taken from shelves after maggot discovery

A SHOPPER this week found maggots in a packet of sunflower seeds in a supermarket - for the second time in the space of four weeks.

Tina Turos visited both of Asda's Dunstable and Luton branches and on each occasion discovered the creatures in packets of Greenfields' Sunflower Kernels.

An Asda spokeswoman said: "Following a complaint from a customer about the quality of Greenfields Sunflower seeds on November 17, we instructed stores to remove a number of Greenfields' products from sale while we investigate with the branded supplier."

"No Asda own-label products are affected by this withdrawal."

Karim Ali, operations director at Greenfields, said: "We deeply regret this unfortunate and isolated incident about the infestation of these two bags."

"It is the first of its kind in the history of our company to receive such a complaint, as we do not have any signs of infestation at our warehouse."

"None the less, we took immediate action and called our pest control company to inspect our entire premises thoroughly for any traces of this infestation, and all results proved negative."

Prosecutor 'lays down the law' on rape cases

BY CHRISTINA JOHNSON
christina.johnson@lutononsunday.co.uk

THE Chief Crown Prosecutor of Bedfordshire has declared that what a person is wearing or how much alcohol they have consumed should play no part when deciding to take rape cases to court.

Richard Newcombe made his comments on Thursday after the head of the Crown Prosecution Service (CPS) announced a series of measures to boost the quality of rape prosecutions across England and Wales.

He said the budget cuts would not affect the quality the public can expect from the specialist rape prosecutors and that he would ensure any decisions they make on whether or not to prosecute are based on the merits of the evidence.

Mr Newcombe said: "Rape is one of the cruellest and most degrading offences, and prosecuting it can be difficult.

"We are now redoubling our efforts to achieve the highest standards across the country.

"I hope the public in Bedfordshire will have confidence that rape victims in this area will be treated sensitively and that their attackers will be prosecuted robustly.

"There can be no room for decisions based on the assumption that a jury might hold certain misconceptions or be intolerant.

"In the New Year, the CPS will be consulting with charities and organisations with expertise on sexual offences and other violent crimes, as to how and when we charge individuals with the serious offence of perverting the course of justice, particularly when a rape complainant is suspected of falsely retracting his or her allegation.

"Let me reassure you, I have a strong team of high calibre prosecutors.

"What I am doing is to make the team even better.

"These measures are just the first in a long-term drive to improve the quality of rape prosecutions, so that you can feel confident that the CPS is determined to deal properly with the devastating offence of rape."

Police force announces funding cuts

A £4 MILLION cut in funding for Bedfordshire Police has been announced by the Government.

The provisional details for the two financial years from April 2011 show the county's force will receive £73.2 million next year – five per cent down on 2010/11 – the equivalent of £4 million.

In 2012/13, the settlement figure will further reduce by £4.9 million – 6.7 per cent.

The Government has agreed to retain the Neighbourhood Policing Fund for another two years which helps to fund PCSOs.

Peter Conniff (pictured), chairman of Bedfordshire Police Authority, said: "We have been bracing ourselves for this announcement for some time and have already undertaken vital groundwork to minimise the impact of any funding cuts on operational policing.

"Unfortunately the budget settlement is as challenging as predicted back in October and this means that as a police authority and force we will now need to make difficult decisions to protect as much as possible the front-line policing service we deliver to the public and ensure the safety of our communities.

"It is disappointing for Bedfordshire that, despite the support of our MPs, the Authority is still not receiving the full grant relative to its needs.

"We have been exploring a range of savings options to ease this process which will reduce the organisational structure of the force but fundamentally maintain the local policing teams which are valued by the public.

"This work will help to ensure Bedfordshire Police delivers a balanced budget in 2011/12, however further difficult decisions will be necessary if the force is to achieve the 6.7 per cent cuts announced in 2012/13 without affecting some aspects of service.

"The police authority will be considering reports in January before finally agreeing the budget in February."

Injuries kill man, 37, hit by train at station

A MAN was hit by a train on Tuesday afternoon at Luton Airport Parkway Station.

Tomasz Pastuszak, 37, of Bircham Grove, Luton, was pronounced dead at the scene by paramedics.

He died from multiple injuries and was identified from his fingerprints. The train involved was the 155pm service from London St Pancras to Sheffield.

An ambulance spokesman said: "We were called at 2.38pm to Luton Airport Parkway after a man was hit by a train."

A British Transport Police spokesman said: "Officers attended the incident, which was reported to police at 2.28pm and is currently being treated as non-suspicious.

"Paramedics also attended but the man was pronounced dead at the scene."

"A file will be prepared for the coroner."

Fireman's retrial for death crash charge

BY JULIA SUTTON

editor@lsnmedia.com

THE jury in the trial of a fireman accused of causing the death of a motorist while on a 999 emergency call have failed to reach a verdict and have been discharged.

Robert Hulatt, 28, was told by a judge at Luton Crown Court on Thursday that he will have to face a retrial next year.

He was on his way to a house fire where it was thought people were trapped.

He went through a red traffic light and crashed into a car causing the death of the driver, 52-year-old Abdul Lateef Sheikh.

The victim's wife and three of his daughters were injured in the crash at the junction of Windsor Street and Chapel Street, Luton,

DRIVER:
Robert Hulatt

during the morning rush hour on September 11 last year.

Mr Sheikh, from Marlow

Avenue, Luton, died on October 6 in hospital.

Mr Hulatt, from Browning Close, Bromham, pleaded not guilty to causing death by dangerous driving.

The jury also had the option of convicting him of the lesser charge of causing death by careless driving.

But after a day's deliberation the foreman informed the court that they would not be able to reach even a majority verdict on either alternative.

Judge John Bevan QC said: "This has not been an easy case."

Mr Hulatt, who still works for Bedfordshire Fire Service, but does not drive appliances, remains on bail until the retrial.

He said he knew the junction had poor visibility but had thought the road was clear.

Top cop looks back

IT'S not been an easy ride for Mrs Parker since she took up the commanding role at Bedfordshire Police five-and-a-half years ago, and this year has been no different.

After the full merger with Hertfordshire was thrown out in the summer, the cash-strapped authority has been forced to follow what Mrs Parker called 'a hellish option' and collaborate services with Hertfordshire and Cambridgeshire.

But having spent 30 years climbing the ranks in Leicester and Suffolk, this is not the first time the 56-year-old has hit stormy weather.

It all started in 1980 when, working as a chemical engineer, the young woman saw an advertisement recruiting new officers into the Leicester constabulary.

Mrs Parker explained appointing officers was very different in those days, and with 'the right height, a few qualifications and good sight' you were in.

She said: "When I joined, my knowledge of policing was based on what I saw on the TV show Z Cars. I just stumbled into the police with no ambition at all. It turned out it was the best thing I could have done.

"Everyone starts at the bottom, I think it's one of the strengths of the police force."

However, when Mrs Parker joined only ten per cent of each force could be female.

THIRTY years ago a 25-year-old chemical engineer in Leicester decided she wanted a change in career. Now that same woman is retiring after three decades of serving the community as a police officer.

Stepping down as Bedfordshire's thirteenth top cop, Chief Constable Gillian Parker tells reporter Hazel Slade about the past, present and future of her life in the blue.

she became the first woman to reach the rank of superintendent.

By 1998 she had accepted a job as Assistant Chief Constable at Suffolk Police and it was there that she first got a taste of the top spot.

Just days into a five-month stint as Acting Chief Constable in 2000 – brought on after the head officer left – Mrs Parker was hit with the famous Greenpeace

Have fun and stay safe this Christmas

Follow these simple steps to ensure a safe and secure festive season

Protect yourself

- Avoid walking alone at night but if you have no choice, face oncoming traffic and avoid short cuts through dimly lit or deserted areas.
- Walk confidently and be aware of your surroundings; avoid using headphones.
- Don't show off your cash, mobile phone or iPod; never leave your bag, wallet or purse unattended.
- Let someone know where you are going and when you expect to be back; if you are in a pub or club leave with a friend.
- Never leave drinks unattended in pubs or clubs.
- If you need a taxi, use a firm you know. Do not get into a private hire taxi (which looks like a normal car) unless you have booked it first. Only hackney carriages, such as black cabs, are licensed and insured to carry passengers who have flagged them down.
- Always wait for a bus or a train in a well lit place with other people if possible; sit near the driver and avoid an empty upper deck or compartment.

Protect your home

- Lock all external doors whether you are at home or not.
- Close and lock all your doors and windows even if you are going out for a few minutes.
- Make sure UPVC doors are properly locked with a key; lock your shed or garage.
- Make sure any valuables are out of sight and don't leave your car keys or ID documents near doors, windows or your letterbox.
- Leave a light on when you go out at night or use plug-in timer switches.

Protect your car

- Always close windows and sunroof; lock the doors and activate any security devices when leaving your car unattended.
- Park with care, particularly at night, in a busy, well-lit area if possible. Never leave keys, cash, credit cards, mobile phones, sat navs, vehicle documents or other valuables in your car.

on her career - and ahead to retirement

protest at Sizewell B nuclear power station.

More than 50 campaigners rode in from the sea for the peaceful protest. Mrs Parker explained that was the first time she got a real idea of what being the leader of a constabulary meant.

She said: "As the chief constable I had to sit on my hands and let everyone else run around, while I oversaw everything. That was very different to what I was used to."

The action didn't end there, and just three days after Mrs Parker took up her first – and last – official top cop role in Bedfordshire, Britain was hit by the 7/7 bombings.

Despite the tragic events, Mrs Parker explained it really showed her what great stuff Bedfordshire officers are made of.

And, on top of this, Mrs Parker experienced the lowest point in her career in 2007 when PC John Henry was murdered while responding to a call in Luton.

She said: "That was the worst moment in my policing career. As the chief constable, I feel responsibility for all my staff and I took John Henry's murder very personally."

And in the same year

TOUGH TIMES AHEAD: But Mrs Parker will step down from her role next week

Bedfordshire was named the worst force in the country.

The really tough times, Mrs Parker said, are yet to come, with the difficulties of trying to save money as Government funding is cut.

From midnight on Wednesday the responsibility, welfare and heartache which comes as part and parcel of leading a police force will no longer sit on Mrs Parker's back.

But can a police officer ever really give up enforcing the law?

Mrs Parker said: "There are some habits that you never get out of.

"Even now, when I walk down the street, I still check people's tax in cars.

"All the things I've done for so many years will be difficult to shake off and it will be hard to recognise that I no longer have the powers of an officer.

"I don't know what I'll do next, but I am looking forward to it."

Diversity is a strength

SIR - A letter celebrating Luton's unity and harmony which has been organised by 'Luton In Harmony', the campaign group which draws Luton communities together, was on Friday signed by Luton South MP Gavin Shuker and Bedfordshire Euro MP Richard Howitt together with representatives from Churches Together in Luton, the Luton Council of Mosques and Luton Council of Faiths.

At the end of a week in which Luton has hit the headlines for all the wrong reasons and has been wrongly portrayed as a hotbed of extremism, the letter highlights that the town's diversity has long been one of its greatest strengths.

The letter states that Luton has been 'enriched and strengthened' by 'the mix of cultures and backgrounds of those people who choose to live together in Luton'.

The letter-signing will take place at a special event organised by the Luton Council of Faiths will be held at the 'Coffee Pot Café' – itself a symbol of multicultural Luton working together.

The Coffee Pot is part of the campaign to make Luton a Fairtrade Town and was the first Asian Fairtrade coffee shop to open in the region.

The Luton Fairtrade Town campaign also boasts the first Fairtrade Hindu Temple and Mosque in the UK.

The blight of terrorism has not succeeded in dividing Luton's communities before and it must not do so now.

I spoke to Swedish MEP colleagues yesterday and on behalf of the people of Luton offered our complete solidarity to the people of Stockholm and explained how shocked people in Luton were feeling by this callous attack.

I am proud to sign this letter to celebrate Luton's diversity, unity and harmony and spread the word that Luton is a great place to live.

Richard Howitt MEP

Wrong to glorify war

SIR - I feel I must write after reading the final paragraph of your front page piece 'Why Peace won't get a chance' in your December 12 edition.

Don Woodcroft said: 'The emphasis [of Remembrance] is on war. It's a war memorial not a peace memorial.'

Forgive me if I have it wrong but I thought the First World War was supposed to be a war to end all wars and that the idea of remembrance was to certainly remember all those who gave their lives but also to recognise the horrors of war and to not want another.

Instead remembrance has become an opportunity to glorify war which is why laying white poppy wreaths is so important.

Price rise unjustified

SIR - I am disgusted that British Gas has put its prices up, at a time when we most need gas. I was with British Gas for 18 years.

I left when I thought I was lied to and messed about. British Gas enticed me to sign up for its price

Negativity belies Luton's cohesion

SIR - Like all towns, Luton has its challenges. We recognise that community cohesion does not just happen but requires hard work and goodwill, and that there will at times be difficult issues for us all to deal with in a town as diverse as ours.

However, as leaders of the community in Luton, we proudly celebrate that diversity in all its forms.

We believe that our home town is enriched and strengthened thanks to the mix of cultures and backgrounds of those people who choose to live together in Luton.

The overwhelming majority of us live side by side in a genuine spirit of Luton in Harmony.

That said, we know from recent events that our town can sometimes make the headlines in the wrong way.

The news that the individual involved in the shameful bombing in Stockholm was a Luton resident greatly saddens us all. At the same time, when we hear that the English Defence League wishes to invite a preacher of hatred towards Islam to attend a meeting in Luton, we collectively rise up and demand his presence here be stopped.

Luton is a proud town. We have a rich heritage.

Despite the negative attention that is too often turned our way, we all believe that Luton is a great place to live if we did not, we would not choose to make our homes here, to bring up our families here and to share in a spirit of community here.

We love Luton and we won't stand idly by and let extremists of whatever viewpoint tarnish our reputation and damage our good name.

We call on the Home Secretary Theresa May MP to ban the preacher Terry Jones from coming to Britain.

His message of hate is not welcome in our town, nor should it be welcome in any town in our country.

We call on our communities to celebrate Luton in Harmony and not allow ourselves to be portrayed as a hotbed of extremism. Lutonians are a positive, can-do people; we have no place for hatred and discord within our communities.

We want people to pledge to reaffirm our belief in the right to peace and dignity of every citizen of our town; to reaffirm our commitment to community cohesion and to celebrating our rich mix of cultures; to reaffirm our conviction that unity in diversity makes us what we are a town to be truly proud of.

or else garden gnomes are gathering for a lot of parties without my knowledge.

I have also spoken to people throwing bottles and cans over the fence along the Moor Path onto railway land when there are bins just a few feet away from them.

But they are not going to give me their details to be reported.

I was horrified to learn that Luton Borough Council spends more than £3 million a year clearing up dumped litter and rubbish.

In a time of cuts, just think what services that money could provide if we all put our litter in a bin and took our furniture to one of the tips.

And as a householder, if you can't transport your furniture, you only have to 'phone the council and they will arrange to collect it for free, one of few local authorities to deliver this as a free service.

So come on everyone, let's care for the place a bit more and not let it be a rubbish tip, and help save money into the bargain.

Thank you.

Lib Dem Peer's chance

SIR - Cllrs Jenny Davies and David Franks assure us that Cllr Qurban Hussain will be a 'strong voice for Luton in Parliament' and that 'he will fight Luton's corner' while Cllr Martin Pantling claims that his Liberal Democrats have 'put our principles into practice'.

As a peer, Cllr Hussain could indeed be a strong voice for our town by putting his party's conveniently abandoned principles into practice by advocating delivery of the Lib Dems' pre-election pledges.

His Government admits that VAT is 'very regressive' and 'hits the poorest hardest' and the new 20 per cent rate will cause more hardship for the area he represents, Biscot, which is in the top ten per cent of the most deprived wards in the country.

If he has the courage to fight for Luton's poor by opposing (as promised) his Government's savage VAT increase and joins his braver and more principled Lib Dem colleagues in voting against (as promised) the university funding cuts, the abolition of educational maintenance grants for 16-18-year-olds and the tripling of tuition fees, he will earn the sincere admiration and respect of this Labour supporter.

Nick Murray

Voter feels confused

SIR - Can someone please explain the AV voting system to me as I am very confused about it?

As I see it you select someone who you think is a strong candidate and cast your first vote.

You then choose a second candidate and vote against your first candidate.

Now I find this rather odd.

Why should I vote against the candidate who I believe can do the job better?

What if I only vote for one candidate, does my vote get binned as a spoilt paper?

STILL the issue of funding for a project in Marsh Farm rumbles on.

An organisation called Marsh Farm Outreach (MFO) has a plan to spend £840,000 of taxpayers' money on helping the more long-term unemployed on the Marsh Farm Estate.

Some politicians want to give MFO the money and some don't. Typically the Lib Dem minister, Andrew Stunell, cannot seem to make his mind up.

I fear that whatever legislation the Con-Lib Government brings in to have fixed Parliaments, this one might not last the course. I digress. This funding has been refused, agreed, refused and agreed maybe but with conditions.

Last week Marsh Farm Community Development Trust, which allocates the funding, with Government consent, stated that some of the £840,000, in line with the last time this was discussed, has been spent on other projects.

On hearing this, members and supporters of MFO, who were outside the meeting, stormed in and began shouting abuse. A senior police officer was present and he became so concerned that he called for back-up.

The meeting was held in the offices of Keech Cottage, a charity hospice which looks after seriously ill children.

Mayor of Luton, Tom Shaw, a supporter of the project was asked what he felt about this

Answers still sought over Marsh Farm project funds

behaviour and said that the meeting should not have been held at Keech Cottage.

This is tantamount to saying meetings concerning MFO should not be held anywhere civilised as not all their members and supporters can be trusted to act in a civilised manner. And yet he supports giving them £840,000 to help and mentor vulnerable adults.

Already MFO has received nearly half-a-million pounds, with little to show for it other than some leaflets delivered. Perhaps Cllr Shaw and other politicians supporting this project would be happy to let the people of Luton know why they support this organisation.

We will be happy to let them.

A COUPLE of weeks ago my brother sent me a text. It said: 'You don't have much luck with flying do you?'

I replied he had a point. We get stuck in Madeira due to an ash cloud, held up in Rome, due to planes and pilots being in the wrong place, and then our trip to Tenerife was cancelled as air traffic controllers were on strike. Normally I would have some sympathy but as it was my holiday and they allegedly earn £300,000 per year, my compassion was stretched.

It may be one of those issues where the memory plays tricks, but 20 or 30 years ago people got on planes to the Med and beyond, with little worries.

Don't get me wrong, flying is much safer and more pleasant than it used to be and these safety measures, especially regarding potential terrorism are a necessary part of modern life. The getting from A to B just does not feel as much fun any more and getting back from B to A on the right day is far less certain than it used to be.

Not that we should let such things deter us and we switched to a holiday in Egypt, with planes that left on time and came back on time.

So the holidays in Yarmouth and Skegness are still a distant memory.

And a happy Christmas to you all.

Already MFO has received nearly half-a-million pounds, with little to show for it other than some leaflets delivered

Do you recognise these pieces found by cops?

POLICE are searching for the owner of these jewellery and coins. Officers believe they may have been stolen and are keen to reunite them with the rightful owners. The items, which include unusual coins, pendants and old watches, were found during the search of a house in Luton in October.

£3m boost for schools backed by councillor

BY SOPHIE SCOTT
sophie.scott@lutononsunday.co.uk

SCHOOLS in Luton will receive an extra £3 million in funding next year, it was revealed this week.

The coalition Government announced on Monday that every school in the country will receive an extra £430 for each pupil who gets free school meals or is looked after by their local authority.

This means Luton schools will share £3,162,500 from April 2011. Luton Borough Council's Liberal Democrats leader, Councillor David Franks, (pictured) said: "The Pupil Premium, (pictured) said: "The Pupil Premium, was a key Liberal Democrat input into the coalition agreement and I am delighted it is now a reality.

"There is a clear and well established connection between entitlement to free school meals and under-achieving.

"Now every headteacher in Luton can now work out how much their school will get and what is the best way to invest it in our children's future.

"By helping some of the most disadvantaged children, we can help whole classes work together better and move forward faster. This is great news for children, parents and teachers alike. The Government will not dictate how the extra money is spent, so long as it is concentrated on disadvantaged children.

"So schools could spend it on extra staff, on one to one tuition or whatever they decide will be most effective."

Town's future plans get Minister's help

BY SOPHIE SCOTT

sophie.scott@lDexpress.co.uk

DUNSTABLE had a visit from a Secretary of State last week to see how the town was being revitalised.

Transport Minister Philip Hammond MP was in the town last Wednesday to take a look at how Central Bedfordshire Council is working with residents and businesses.

Following a tour of the area with Central Beds leader Cllr Tricia Turner, chief executive Richard Carr and South West Bedfordshire MP Andrew Selous, Mr Hammond went on to attend to discuss a contribution towards the cost of the proposed A5/M1 Link Road.

Central Beds agreed to allocate £5 million of Growth Area Funding to the A5/M1 Link Road scheme at its meeting on Tuesday morning and it is hoped that the project will now progress earlier than expected.

In July the council, with private sector developer Lands Improvement Holdings, confirmed its offer to contribute £50 million towards the funding of the scheme.

The council is working on a Dunstable Town Centre

Masterplan which went out to public consultation earlier in the year.

Views were sought on a range of proposals including redeveloping the town centre, building a new medical centre and replacement ambulance station facility, and improving town centre access and reducing traffic congestion.

Mr Hammond said: "We have had to make tough choices about investment priorities for the strategic road network, ensuring we get maximum value for money for every pound that we spend.

"I welcome the proposed £50 million developer contribution to the costs of building the A5/M1 link road improvement as this will significantly improve the return on public investment for this scheme.

"We are working closely with the council and developer and if this third-party investment can be finalised, I plan to re-start the statutory processes for the scheme as soon as possible."

It is hoped the plan and the A5/M1 Link Road will boost Dunstable's economy and help to deliver new housing in the area.

Cllr Turner said: "We are committed to regenerating this town centre as a priority and it is through schemes like these that we will be able to make this a reality."

A Unique shopping experience

SET in the heart of Bedfordshire, Dunstable is a town steeped in history.

It is the oldest charter town in the county and is currently home to around 36,000 residents.

It lies on the crossroads of the ancient Roman road Watling Street and the Icknield Way, and the earliest recorded residents lived on the Downs - hills that originated at the same time as the Himalayas.

Dunstable has served as an important and influential town throughout the years, due to its location and being one day's travel from London (on horseback).

The vast Downs are also a big attraction to tourists. It is a kite-flying hotspot and chalk grassland, rich in wildlife, provides prime walking country. You can also spot the gliders soaring over the glorious landscape.

There is a lot of history behind many buildings, including the Priory Church which played host to many royal events including the divorce between Henry VIII and Catherine of Aragon.

Dunstable is fiercely proud of its rich heritage yet it is very much a town in the present, working towards a bright future.

With the introduction of the Grove Theatre in 2007 and the renovation of pubs and amenities, Dunstable is currently enjoying a revival.

It has many unique shops on offer and is also home to Whipsnade Zoo, one of Europe's largest zoos and wildlife conservation parks.

Whether passing through Dunstable or using the town as a gateway to the Chiltern Hills, make sure you allow time to discover the delights of the town centre itself.

Jamie's O2 Open Mic opportunity

A MUSICIAN from Luton is set to perform at London's O2 Arena next month.

Jamie Hensley, 20, defeated thousands of other hopefuls and will appear in the Grand Final of Open Mic UK 2010.

Eight thousand musicians enter the competition every year in the hope of touring the UK and winning a recording contract.

The winner of this year's event will be thrown into the media spotlight and this is sure to be the beginning of a successful music career.

Proud Jamie said: "It's an experience of a lifetime to perform at the O2 and I'm very happy. It's still a shock that I've got this far."

Jamie and other musicians will be performing on the main stage in front of a live crowd on January 15 in front of many well known industry insiders.

Good Food & Pub Guide

There are many ways to help look after yourself when you are out on the town clubbing over Christmas. If you do go out, don't take too many personal belongings or carry a lot of cash on you. Be with a friend for the evening who you trust, and never walk home alone - men or women. Take a registered taxi home. You could always buy a panic alarm. Make sure you have planned your route home and have a plan B. Drugs are illegal and dangerous - stay away from them - and never drink and drive. Drink responsibly, and don't leave your drinks unattended for someone to slip a drug into your drink.

BBC favourite is real McCoy

RACING fans are tonight expecting Tony McCoy to become their sport's first winner of the BBC Sports Personality of the Year award.

The 15-time champion jumps jockey is among 10 contenders and has been installed as odds-on favourite ahead of golfers Graeme McDowell and Lee Westwood, England spinner Graeme Swann and darts legend Phil Taylor.

McCoy's chances were boosted earlier in the year when he finally won the Grand National, piloting Don't Push It to victory at Aintree.

He said: "From my point of view, it's a massive thing to be mentioned in the same breath as other sports stars, but I see it as a bigger honour for racing."

Weather leaves racing in cold

THE latest icy blast continues to hit racing hard, with no action left in Britain today.

Carlisle was abandoned on Friday, while the all-weather fixture at Kempton fell yesterday following 10cm of snow, with surrounding areas the concern.

Hopes for racing tomorrow rest on the Polytrack surface at Wolverhampton after the jumps cards at Taunton and Ffos Las were called off.

Sedgefield will inspect tomorrow for Tuesday's National Hunt meeting, with Musselburgh also looking tomorrow for their Wednesday fixture.

Hopes for Hereford on Tuesday hinge on a 10am look today.

Home favourite EIs leads way

ERNIE EIS will take a two-shot lead into the final day of the South African Open after a second successive 65 put him in command in Durban.

The South African did not drop a shot all day to finish 14 under par and in pole position to win the title for a fifth time.

Fellow home favourite and former champion Retief Goosen is EIs' closest challenger on 12 under after adding a 68 to his opening 64.

Little-known Frenchman Romain Wattel is a further shot back on 11 under after a 66, with Open champion Louis Oosthuizen (67) and Charl Schwartzel (69) another shot back.

With 36 holes scheduled for the final day after most of Thursday's play was abandoned due to rain, the chasing pack still have plenty of time to catch up.

Saints out to leave

Young feeling blue

NORTHAMPTON SAINTS are set to face a Cardiff Blues side today that has entered the last-chance saloon in this season's Heineken Cup.

Blues boss David Young sees no way forward for his team from Pool One if they do not avenge last Saturday's 23-15 defeat against the Saints at Franklin's Gardens.

The Welsh outfit were last night confident the game would go ahead, with diggers brought in to clear areas outside the Cardiff City Stadium.

The Blues are boosted by British and Irish Lions centre Jamie Roberts' appearance on the bench for potentially his first appearance this season after undergoing wrist surgery.

And Young knows the Blues must extend their impressive unbeaten Heineken home record of 12 successive wins to stay in touch with group leaders Northampton.

"We have to win," said the former Wales and Lions prop. "If we don't, we are out of the competition, but we also have to make sure that Northampton leave with nothing."

"There are still two games left after this one, and the Saints have to visit Castres, which is always difficult, and we may have to hope that somebody does us a favour."

"I believe we have to win our next three games, and if we do, we are still in with a chance of reaching the quarter-finals."

Saints rugby director Jim Mallinder expects a tough examination.

"We have had a promising start to our Heineken Cup

HEINEKEN CUP

campaign, but this represents a massive challenge for us," he said.

"It was a tough battle last Saturday, mentally as well as physically, and this weekend will be the same."

"Cardiff didn't lose at home in Europe last season and they will want to keep that record."

"That means we will have to be at our best to get a positive result, making sure we play on the edge but not going over the top."

Elsewhere today, Edinburgh entertain Castres, with the French side arguably Northampton's biggest threat to automatic qualification for the knockout stage.

Leicester, having collected a losing bonus point away to Perpignan last weekend, will remain on course for the quarter-finals from Pool Five if they beat the Catalans in today's Welford Road return fixture.

Italian prop Martin Castrogiovanni returns to bolster a Tigers pack that endured a difficult afternoon at the Stade Aime Giral, with England tighthead Dan Cole named among the substitutes.

"This was always going to be a tight pool. Every point is very important," said Tigers rugby director Richard Cockerill.

"We expect another big performance from Perpignan, and we need to match that mentally and physically. We need to have our attitude spot-on, and we need the crowd behind us."

RETURN: Wales and Lions centre Jamie Roberts is set to return for Cardiff

Stanislas strikes to earn a point for under-fire Grant

PREMIER LEAGUE

Round-up

SPECULATION: Avram Grant

after Matthew Upson had hit a post.

Steve Bruce is hoping Manchester United boss Sir Alex Ferguson will hand him a birthday present by allowing Danny Welbeck to complete a permanent move to Sunderland.

The two men share the same birthday, New Year's Eve, and the Black Cats boss is keeping his fingers crossed that Ferguson will grant him his wish after seeing loan signing Welbeck fire his side into the top six after a 1-0 win over Bolton.

Bruce said: "Fergie has got a birthday coming up shortly, and he might get generous in his old age. I somehow doubt it."

"Danny is a fantastic talent. You can see that, and he has benefited from playing regularly. The good thing about him is his infectious enthusiasm."

Big guns silenced as big freeze hits sport

TODAY'S Barclays Premier League clash between title rivals Chelsea and Manchester United was the most high-profile casualty of this weekend's snow and freezing temperatures as all this afternoon's top-flight fixtures were postponed yesterday.

After yesterday's Premier League matches at Arsenal, Wigan, Liverpool and Birmingham all fell foul of the weather, the showdown in west London was also scuppered.

Chelsea cited heavy snow in the capital, saying in a statement: "The game at Stamford Bridge has been postponed following consultation with the police and the local authority. There has been heavy snow in London."

Blackpool's match at home to Tottenham also succumbed yesterday and today's third and final Premier League clash, the Black Country derby between West Brom and Wolves, was then postponed on "safety grounds".

In rugby, Newcastle's Amlin Challenge Cup game against Exeter today has been moved 70 miles to Galashiels.

Bethnal event will be nostalgic for promoter Earl

GRAHAM Earl has announced his biggest promotion to date at the home of British boxing, the York Hall in Bethnal Green.

Capital Punishment will be his third show since hanging up his gloves and it is set to be his first championship boxing event in London.

It's a venue Earl knows well as he secured his first title by beating Brian Gentry to lift the BBBofC Southern Area Lightweight belt there in March 2001. He went on to successfully defend the title three times at the venue.

But without doubt the reason York Hall is etched deep in Earl's heart is that it was the setting of his most glorious victory, when he beat Angel Hugo Ramirez to become the WBU Lightweight Champion of the World in October 2006.

Paul Morby - one of Earl's fighters

- is set to headline the Capital Punishment bill with his first defence of the BBBofC Southern Area Super Middleweight title against Essex boy Daniel 'Mr Slick' Cadman.

To support the Morby v Cadman main event, Earl has put together an undercard featuring top class boxers including British Masters Light Welterweight Champion Jay Morris, and five young unbeaten fighters - middleweight Joe Hillerby, light welterweight Terry Holmes, light heavyweight Joel McIntyre, light heavyweight Navid Iran and rising super featherweight star George Jupp

Money backs ref's decision to call off weather hit clash

BY JAMES CUNLIFFE

BLUE SQUARE BET PREMIER
 LUTON TOWN 0
 YORK CITY 0
 ABANDONED AFTER 55 MINUTES

LUTON Town's manager, managing director and the referee all agreed that abandoning yesterday's Conference clash at home to York City was the right decision.

It was a gallant effort to get the game played as all across the country matches were postponed due to the return of the big freeze, including all but two Premier League matches.

In Luton's league – the Blue Square Bet Premier – only Fleetwood Town and Newport County's could fulfil a fixture with a 1-1 draw. All the other games were postponed on Friday and Wrexham's trip to AFC Wimbledon met the same fate yesterday morning.

At Kenilworth Road, snow fell throughout the game and there was the rare, old-fashioned sight of an orange ball played on a white pitch.

Players coped in the first half but the snow poured down during half-time and it started to become dangerous for players, both under foot and because of poor visibility.

In the 55th minute, referee Andy Hendley went over to the touchline to talk to his fourth official, Money and his Minstermen counterpart Gary Mills and it was decided that the game would have to be abandoned.

"I think it was a sensible decision," said Money. "Gary and I came together with the fourth official because we couldn't see and that was the main thing. It came down like a blizzard. I suppose neither team wanted to lose the game because of a mistake.

"I thought both teams made a good fist of it but we are disappointed not to be able to finish the game.

"Apologies to the supporters but I think they understood and the reception at the end was pretty good for both teams."

Referee Hendley said: "Both managers were in agreement about calling the game off. It's their right to have a say in that decision, but it is actually my decision in the end."

"Luton did a really good job to get the game to go ahead. To start with the pitch was fine but as the game went on it did get worse."

"In the second half, we gave it a go for ten minutes but the ball wasn't rolling as it was in the first half."

"The pitch was still OK under foot and it was still soft, it was just the snow on the pitch which got on the ball and made it slow up."

"Visibility wasn't great as a spectacle and safety is paramount and our main concern."

Hatters' managing director Gary Sweet concurred with the West Midlands official, that it would have become dangerous, not only for the players, but for fans too.

"We are gutted but we have to say a big thank you for all of those that did turn up. At least we got the game started and gave them a little bit of entertainment to those that came to watch."

"I was disappointed when the referee was called over by the managers, but one of the considerations here was the fact that, if we had left it for another hour, the road conditions outside the stadium would have been much worse."

"We had to bear in mind the health and safety of supporters in the stadium and their trip home."

Yet, Sweet believes the club were right to try to get the game played, especially after the big investment that was made in the summer to improve the pitch's drainage system.

"The pitch is sound," he said. "We spent a lot of money on it in the summer and the fact that we put the drainage system in meant that it wasn't holding too much moisture, so it didn't freeze."

"We've bought extra covers, had parts of the pitch double covered and we are not playing for a few days yet, so hopefully we'll be able to get the snow off and get it cleared and prepared for Tamworth [on Tuesday, December 28]."

Tributes pour in after Rushden keeper tragedy

Hatter. "I couldn't see it coming and I didn't expect it. It was very disappointing to hear."

Tributes have poured in from the football community this week including some from Manchester City superstar Adam Johnson and Sunderland chairman Niall Quinn with many teams united in their grief.

Dale grew up in the north east in Horden and he represented his country at international level as the England C goalkeeper.

Sunderland chairman Niall Quinn said: "Dale was a local lad and his passing has shocked the footballing family."

"On behalf of everyone at the club I would like to extend my deepest condolences to Dale's family and friends."

"He was a popular player at Rushden and looked set for a promising career. That this has now been cut short is nothing short of a tragedy."

Manchester City and England star Adam Johnson also dedicated his performance in the Blues' 1-1 UEFA Europa Cup draw at Juventus on Thursday to his friend.

He said: "I'm absolutely devastated about Dale's passing; he was a really good friend."

"I grew up with Dale. We were in the same class at school and also played at Middlesbrough together. His parents are friends with my parents and we often went on holiday together."

"I know he was so desperate to improve and get up the leagues as a player, and he was a really good keeper, too."

"My heart goes out to his family and friends; he was one of my best mates and I'll really miss him."

Luton ace Amari pays tribute to Diamonds' Dale

AMARI MORGAN-SMITH has paid tribute to Rushden & Diamonds goalkeeper Dale Roberts (above) who was found dead in his home this week.

An inquest was opened and adjourned on Friday morning into the former Nottingham Forest stopper's death with the cause given as asphyxia.

Luton Town midfielder Morgan-Smith knew the 24-year-old from their time in the England C set-up and there was a minute's silence before Luton's abandoned Blue Square Bet Premier match at home to York City yesterday.

"He was a good lad to be fair," said the

Snow joke as Luton fall foul of weather

Luton manager Richard Money after Luton's match with York was abandoned yesterday

BY JAMES CUNLIFFE
james.cunliffe@bedsonunday.com

RICHARD Money believes that Luton's progress in the FA Trophy could now pose a problem in the fixture schedule after yesterday's home Blue Square Bet Premier clash with York City was abandoned ten minutes into the second half due to heavy snowfall.

It leaves the Hatters having to rearrange the match, but with the threat of more fixtures falling foul of the elements over the upcoming Christmas period, the manager can't see where they can find the time to do it.

Town's young guns beat Welling United 2-1 on Tuesday night courtesy of a late wonder strike from Alex Lawless to progress through to the next stage of the Trophy and will now face Uxbridge at home on Tuesday, January 15, a date which Boss Money thinks would have been perfect for them to get the York game on again.

"We knew the snow might come and we just hoped it came late enough so we could get the game finished," he said.

"By my understanding, I don't think we have a free midweek until the end of March.

"The wisdom of going through in the FA Trophy may come back to haunt us, because the York game could've been played on January 15, for example.

"We got through, we are in it and we'll try to stay in as long as we can, but it is going to be a problem.

"That's four games to reorganise and who knows what's going to happen over the Christmas week with four games in eight days. We could lose any of them."

Yesterday's game was scoreless when abandoned.
